

Calling all Directors and Planning Staff

Mentoring Scholarships Available

Rural Planning Caucus Conference
October 19-21, 2022
Mountain Lake Lodge
Giles County, Virginia

This year, RPC has two Mentoring Scholarships available to attend the 43rd annual conference. We are offering this scholarship to give directors and staff opportunity to develop their mentoring relationships during this learning and networking event and offset the cost of having two staff members from an organization attend the conference. The mentoring scholarship is for a director or supervisor of a Virginia planning agency, planning department of a locality, or a state-affiliated agency who attends the conference with their employee. The director or supervisor's scholarship includes a single occupancy room for two nights and meals from Wednesday dinner through Friday lunch; the $125 RPC registration is not covered. Full conference fees of registration and lodging would be applicable for the staff attendee. For example, if you are a planning-related director or supervisor, you would qualify for the scholarship if you bring a planner from your office with you to the conference. Scholarships will be awarded on the above qualifications and on a first-come, first-serve basis.

"The fine print" – Both parties listed below must attend to be eligible for the scholarship. If a change in staffing requires a change to the attendees identified, this can be accommodated.
